CRS REPORT FOR CONGRESS: NORTH KOREA: CHRONOLOGY OF PROVOCATIONS, 1950-2003: JANUARY 22, 2001 - RL30004

BiblioGov. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 28 pages. Dimensions: 9.7in. x 7.4in. x 0.1in. This chronology provides information on selective instances of North Korean provocations between June 1950 and December 2000. The most intense phase of the provocations was in the latter half of the 1960s, when North Korea (Democratic Peoples Republic of Korea DPRK) staged a series of limited armed actions against South Korean and U. S. security interests. Infiltration of armed agents into South Korea was the most frequently mentioned type of provocation, followed by kidnaping and terrorism (actual and threatened). From 1954 to 1992, North Korea is reported to have infiltrated a total of 3, 693 armed agents into South Korea, with 1967 and 1968 accounting for 20 percent of the total. Instances of terrorism were far fewer in number but they seemed to have had a continuing negative impact on relations between the two Koreas. Not counting North Korea's invasion of South Korea in what has come to be known as the forgotten Korean War (1950-1953), North Korea's major terrorist involvement includes: attempted assassinations of President Park Chung Hee in 1968 and 1974; a 1983 attempt on President Chun Doo Hwans life in a bombing incident in Rangoon, Burma (now Myanmar); and a mid-air sabotage bombing of a South Korean Boeing 707 passenger . . . This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
